Married versus Single

On Wednesday afternoon another hockey contest took place between the "singles" of Blairmore and their more fortunate neighbors, which resulted in a score, which, reported from the inside sounded like 19-1 in favor of the singles, but outside re-echoed as 9-7 in the "hubby's" favor.

According to rules, five minutes each way was played, and in the first half Blairmore secured the final score, and with the score at 4 to 3 the game ended.

I would say if you are a good hockey player and were allowed to leave the field, you that by special request their names

The game was certainly good a one, every man proving that at anything else but hockey they were experts.

Bigelow appeared to be the only live man on the grass, and it is safe to say that had it not been for his irratic fleetness, the poor old tongueseamed team would have fallen far short.

Mr. Bigelow, knowing his ability to be superior to that of any of his side-kicks rested, watchingly during the first period, in which time the singles seemed to be taking advantage of an apparent opportunity of making a quick score. Several times the outcome would be disastrous if such proceedings were longer permitted, Bigelow decided to put in his formidable check, and in the first quarter minute of his manuevering managed to pierce the net twice.

One score was from the "married" end of the ice, the puck passing like a shot through the sealed frames of some of the single's chips. So scared were the singles in the third period that they simply held their positions on the ice as though waiting for the action of the camera man or our cartoonist, and opened an aisle through mid rank for an exchange of shots between Bigelow and goal keeper Lewis. Between them and the close of time—seven minutes and 4 seconds—five other goals were recorded in favor of the married men.

Some suggestions were made by the onlookers that wings be added to the rink in order to permit of the carrying out to advantage of Mr.

Bigelow's manuevers, or that the wave smoke of Blairmore might be condened so as to make the atmosphere more conducive to speed.

Frank versus Blairmore

Last Friday night the Frank and Blairmore hockey teams met on the former's ice to play another of the league games.

About 6:30 the weather man showed a little opposition by sending a heavy fall of snow, which handicapped both sides very considerably, and though the rink would be clear at the moment of starting, it only remained so a very few minutes.

At 8:30 the puck was laid by referee Benson between the two sticks at centre. At once it was shot to the wing toward Blairmore's goal and Danny Dunlop, who had a clear shot, landed it in the net. A little later Grace shot the puck from about fifteen feet in front of the Frank goal and caught the Blairmore goalkeeper off his guard and strode leisurely home. Thus ended the first period, 2 to 0 in favor of Frank.

During the first period Frank had the best of the play, as well as goals, but during the second Blairmore held them down. Paul put No. 1 between the bars, and a little later another one followed its example. No sooner was the game tie than two of the Frank team with a little combination put in another.

During the third period both teams had their snow storm the ice was much better. Toward the end of this period, Blairmore scored another goal, Goddard having the honor of giving it the final touch, again tying the score.

According to rules, five minutes each way was played, and in the first half Blairmore secured the final score, and with the score at 4 to 3 the game ended.

According to the Herald in a score of 7-4 on the former's ice on Wednesday night. The game was one of the best contested for the season, and attracted a larger crowd than usual. In the first part of the game Frank seemed to be making the best showing, but Colman loomed up in the last period and evened up the score plus 3. Grace, of the Frank team, received a stroke from the puck on the nose, seriously fracturing that membrane, necessitating surgical treatment.

According to the Herald of Tuesday, the challenge of the ladies' hockey septete of Blairmore has been taken up by the ladies' team of Dunmore, and that arrangements are being made for a game at both Blairmore and Dunmore, and a third game on neutral ice. One thing may be relied upon, and that is the fact that unlike the Calgarials, the sporting fraternity of Southern Alberta are not accustomed to "nickel-shows" and in consequence there is no need of worrying about the financial end of the movement.

This is the season of the year when mothers feel very much concerned over the frequent colds contracted by their children, and have abundance of time for an over-cold weakness, the lungs, liver, kidneys and ovaries the way for the most serious disease that so often follow. Chamburian's Cough Remedy is famous for its cure, and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by all dealers.

The second grand carnival will be held on the Blairmore rink on the night of Friday the 14th, when the health conditions will be more favorable than prevailed at last week's carnival. Prizes will be awarded for the best dressed lady, best dressed gent, best dressed girl, best dressed comic and best dressed boy; also for a half mile gentle race, ladies and gents double race, half mile; obstacle race, etc. Entry fee for races 50 cents. Good orchestra in attendance.

For a sprain you will find Chamburian's Liniment excellent. It relieves the pain, removes the soreness, and soon restores the parts to healthy condition. 26 and 50 cent bottles for sale by all dealers.

KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Again this great medicine has triumphed over kidney disease of a very typical character, curing and helping Mrs. Walsh was restored to health and strength by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Medical swellings had set in and she had no reason to hope for cure, since the doctor's medicine failed to even relieve her. Read what the husband says about this remarkable cure:

Mr. Thos. D. Walsh, Pictou, N.S., writes: "Last year I lay my wife to bed after suffering for a long time from kidney pains in the back. She was not able to stand on her feet, or even turn herself in bed. The doctor said there was no benefit whatever, that we could see none. Sometimes her legs would swell considerably. Reading about a woman in similar condition being cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills we purchased two boxes and when these were used she was able to sit up. With three more boxes she was restored to health and doing her housework."

"As for myself I also found these pills all that is claimed for them. I give this statement in order that others may have the same ease from suffering as that experienced by my wife and myself."

mestic wife. I have been calling

But have you noticed that it is always the same old sock?

High Finance

Why do you keep asking people for change for a dollar and then asking other people to give you a dollar for your change?

Well, somebody may make a mistake in change some time. And, believe me, it won't be me.

A Bridge of Ants

A species of ants which spin silk is an inhabitant of hot countries. The ants nest in the ground, holding the leaves together to make their nests. The silks used for its purpose is not secreted by the adult ants, but by the larva.
In order to get such a silken thread to draw the leaves together the ants must carry the larvae about from leaf to leaf. When two distant leaves are to be drawn together a series of small bridges are made. Five or six ants form a chain bridging the gap between the leaves, each gripping the waist of another in its mandibles.
A number of such chains will co-operate in bringing two leaves together.

The father of a small family tells us this one: "I instructed our little boy when he was invited out to lunch the other day that when he was asked to have a second helping of cake he should refuse it. You might say 'No, such a thing!' But it came true, and she. And don't you forget it."

He didn't. When asked if he'd have some more cake he said, 'No.'

I thank you; I've had enough and don't you forget it!"

All-British Lord Mayor

When I got out of bed this morning I left behind my linens sheets and Witney blankets. I went into the bathroom and took my English soap and towel, dressed in satin pants and put on my English made boots, and went to breakfast supplied wholly with British produce.
As far as I am concerned, everything is all-British, except course, with the British Empire. Such was the interesting confession made a few days ago by Sir T. Vezey Strong, Mayor of London, in connection with the movement for an all-British shopping week.

A NEW INVENTION

Safety Appliance is Added to Grand Trunk Equipment

Of all the multitude of problems and anxiety which make the head of a railway official like that of the Grand Trunk, none is more important than the safety of passengers and the stability of equipment. A railcar system, however carefully organized and maintained, is a human device and accidents are bound to occur although reduced to a minimum.
When accidents, in the form of derailments, occur, the cost of damage that many valuable lives are lost and that a number of expensive cars are reduced to matchwood. Passengers realize that their greatest danger is derailment, but few realize that telescoping is due to the fact that the body of the car merely rests upon the trucks and is unconnected with it save to hold the car centre pin of negligible importance.

Were it possible to make a solid unit out of body and truck the problem would not exist, but it has been solved. This however cannot be done for the one must be readily detachable from the other to facilitate repairs. How then can the body be held in place at need yet a solid unit in operation? An invention that has been soiled by the Grand Trunk System after nearly two years can work and its solution can fall easily to the mind. The great advance in railroading since Westinghouse brought out his air-brake. No other railroad on this continent has any steps to follow. The new equipment and no other railroad in the world has been able to work out anything of practical importance.

No invention of such importance was ever simple. Only five solid castings. No complicated or fragile machinery. Nothing to get out of work or be easily damaged. When assembled it is a solid unit, so much as two gigantic nuts, one superimposed upon the other, and held together by easily removed vertical bolts. The body is held in place by the force of the impact stops the trucks of each car but since the object that has been struck continues to move and tends to roll, there is a tendency to follow them, while the sudden application of the brakes to the trucks simultaneously with the impact also causes the truck to move, these last being completely cut off from their normal position: upon the trucks.
The impact strikes the platforms of trucks first of all and if these remained stationary the body would stop but would be small but when the bodies are shifted a inch higher than another, its platform climbs upon the lower, and the two bodies crush into each other.

It is evident that some force must be applied to counteract the movement of the body, and the only one available has never been taken advantage of—brake force which acts upon the wheels that are attached to the body. This is why a device had been planned to hold the body and body a unit so as to allow the body to let upon the trucks. In addition to the jolting of the track to the body having the tendency to move upon either end of the latter and to that extent helps to prevent the body from rising up.

Designed with certain accidents.
Mr. J. Coleman, superintendent of the Grand Trunk Car Department at Point St. Charles started to work on this idea in 1910. Last August he submitted his invention, which he describes as a centrifugal lock in the form of a wheel. The President, Mr. Chamberlain, who was so impressed with its value that he ordered the device to be added to all future equipment and at the present it is being built up in Grand Trunk Pacific passenger cars.

The weight of these cars varies from 15,000 lbs. for a baggage car to 100,000 pounds for a freight car while the weight of trucks varies from 12,000 pounds for a four wheeled truck to 20,000 pounds for a six wheeled truck.

Within the past month or so the Board of Railway Commissioners, evidently impressed also with the danger and its removal, has given no recognition to the Canadian Railways that at a future session it would inquire what was to be done to obviate the danger and what they should not be made to assume but the railroads are taking some way. For this reason nothing has been said as the Grand Trunk officials feel no small pride that in this important matter they have had the lead among all the railroads of the world and are confident that they have added immeasurably to the safety of passenger travel.

Tricking the Bobby

A Dublin eccentric a short time ago entered a purveyor's shop and bought a ham. Having paid for his purchase, he requested that it should be outside the shop. The purveyor said: "I don't think you would care for it." The customer then paced up and down the shop till a policeman came in sigh and just as the man was about to leave the bobby's eye he grabbed the hand and bolted. The constable, however, soon collared the thief, as he thought, and handed him back to the shop. Hayward, the shop assistant, who had legged claims to the shop assistant, he asked the latter to charge the offender.

But, said the assistant, as he realized the joke, it's his own ham. He was quite at liberty to take it in any circumstances he chose.

Force of Habit

He was an old merchant who had built up a big business by advertising John said his wife, what do you want on your tombstone?

Oh, he answered, it isn't very important what the text is so long as it gives good space and is well designed.

Stronger Than Sympathy

harsh world.

Sympathize with him! Gosh, mister,

Madame Charlotte von Tuckewill shortly arrive in Paris on her way to London.

Frieda h' childhood she has amazingly exercised her peculiar powers in search of water and metals on the great Hungarian plains.

She has frequently discovered springs of water which no one suspected, and one of her achievements was the locating of four springs on the estate of Herr Kubelik, who was the guest of the famous violinist Heifetz.

Her usual method is to make use of a divining rod made of hazelwood or silver, or both silver and coal.

Last summer she was travelling in Hungary, passing through a district called Neutra, she was able by her extreme sympathy to indicate where to also find water and minerals.

One of her latest successes has been the discovery of a rich petroleum field, which is now producing 750 barrels of oil daily.

Mme. von Tucke-handsome woman of about 40, is unable to account for her success.

While searching for hidden springs and metals she resembles a woman walking in her sleep.

This seagull makes a splendid living far seaward, early in the morning sailing will be fine and the night fair, but if the bird is seen inland in the morning there is no hanging out toward the sea to denote unpleasant weather, infertbe bad. The gull is the most remark-

The story is told of Judge McCaof being the longest man in the world. There is a tradition that he lived along a street in Kansas City when he noticed that a hound dog was trailing him. After he had gone a block turned to the west and asked him:

"Boy, what do you suppose that dog

Concert at Passburg

A grand and most successful concert was held in the Slavoc Hall, Passburg, on the night of Wednesday, January 29th. The hall was filled by an audience comprising the differential nationalities in town.

A swell programme was gone through. Under the direction of James Sloan, of Blairmore, four tableaux were given, namely "The Battle of Flowers," "Rock of Ages," "Greek Idols" and "God Save the King."

These were well received and reflected great to performers and dictators alike. Among the talented artists of the night were Mrs. J. H. Lee, James Sloan, Miss

M. Pinkney, of Blairmore; Mrs.

W. E. Duncan, J. N. Rowell, Mrs.

W. L. Hamilton, F. M. Runble, and E. Houghton, of Passburg; A.

Rowley, C. Forks and Mr. Claque, of Blugies; Mr. Kleskin, of Maple Leaf, and a number of others.

The programme was well maintained and every item deserves equal credit in the way it was carried out.

The Presbyterian manse fund will benefit to the extent of about $50.00.

The chair was occupied by Rev.

G. H. Wycherly, who expressed his pleasure at meeting so many people of different nationalities joined in the brotherhood of Cana-dianism.

It was freely expressed that this was the best concert ever held in Passburg.

"The Rosary"

At the present day when so many plays are being presented which deal with questionable subjects, it is a relief to turn to a drama which breathes purity and good fellowship and leads the way to a brighter view of life and humanity.

Such a play is "The Rosary," written by Edward E. Rose, expressly for Messrs. Rowland and Clifford, and produced by them.

The theme of the play concerns a man and a woman happily married and surrounded with every luxury that money and culture can secure. But the husband is an unbeliever, an atheist, without faith of any kind.

There is a jarring note in the household harmony, a personality at war with the peace and love of its members. No one notices this until a friend of the husband comes.

Father Kelly, a priest of the modern world with a deep insight into human nature and a divine love for his fellow men.

And when stress and trouble come, when the home is wrecked and husband and wife are brought down to the depths of suffering agony, it is the priest's calm coun-ce and faith that saves them, drives away the clouds of suspicion, doubt, mistrust, and brings them both into sunlight of appeal and love.

The play will be seen at the Blairmore opera house next Thursday Feb. 13th, with Harris-son J. Ferry, in the roll of Father Brian Kelly, the priest.

To Increase Water Supply

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 5—Experts have advised the city of Edmonton to take immediate step to provide a water supply for 100,000 population, with a recommendation to make preparations for 200,000. The cost of the first mentioned system is placed at $5,515,000, the latter involving an expenditure of $8,500,000. The general request is for a plant to supply 200,000. The present population is about 91,000. The police census taken last June gave a population of 53,283.

The report submitted by Messrs.

Francis, Ross and Lea of Montral to the board of commissioners, headed by Mayor William Short, recommends the Saskatchewan river as a source of supply the experts saying that the watershed of 11,000 square miles is at present mostly through an unsettled district thus ensuring pure water. The minimum flow of the stream in Edmonton is 3,000 cubic feet per second, thus affording an abundant and never-failing supply.

The system recommended provides for a series of mechanical filters, each of 5,000,000 gallons, a covered reservoir of 10,000,000 gallons capacity, so arranged that it can be increased to 20,000,000 gallons by adding two units and steam and electric pumps of 6,000,000 and 10,000,000 gallons capacity.

John Chalmers, a member of the board of commissioners, said today that a definite plan will be laid before the council in a short time with a view of beginning work early this spring. The commissioners are in favor of the unit plan, so it may be extended from time to time to meet the city's requirements.

The programme was well main-

equal credit in the way it was carried out.

MISSING A CARIBOU.

An Attack of "Buck Ague" Made a Fool of the Hunter.

What the "buck ague" is like is described in "The Journal of a Sporting Nomad" by T. R. M. The author's first attempt against the caribou resulted in humiliation. He tells that Johnny, his Indian guide, suddenly dropped like a stone into the wet grass and muttered, "Star," and there, sure enough, strutting along the front was a fine caribou. "I sat down, resting my gun on my knee, waiting until he should put in an appearance my side of the rock. I had the rifle to my shoulder, and at last the grand beast walked into view, not more than 100 yards away. He stopped, and drew his head and shoulders. Useless! The rifle wabbled all over the place, and for the life of me I could not keep it still nor hold my breath. My heart was in my mouth, and all the time the rifle trembled. I took a deep breath, and fired on a few paces, and I determined that if I meant to shoot at all I must obtain better control of my nerves. I still covered him with the sights, or thought I was doing so, as I pulled the trigger in the heat that was standing broadside to me.

"I was using a fine rifle, and it was the work of an instant to pump another cartridge into the chamber and fire again. Still no move on the part of my target. He faced the other way nonchalantly, looking about him, and the editor of the Journal can tell you I was getting desperate now and could hear the Micmac muttering all sorts of imprecations behind my back, which only made things worse. I fired five more shots at him, but as far as I could see he was carved in wood, perspiring until he turned off into a belt of timber.

"The story is an absolute fact. I would not have credited it had I not been the one to make such a fool of myself. I feel very bad about it. I really imagined less described. I could have cried with vexation and shame. Johnny took the rifle, looked it over, patted it as though he would demand of it whether the fault lay with it or the user, and I tried to make excuses to myself for myself."

BLACK LETTERS AND WHITE.

The Former More Distinct, at a Distance Than the Latter.

There is a tendency on the part of railroads to adopt signs with white letters on a black background, not realizing that the letters are on a white background easier to read and can be seen at a greater distance. This follows in an interesting way from the structure of the retina of the eye.

The impression of a letter at the limit of vision is received by the eye of a small area, and the area covers only a small portion of the brain, a sort of mosquito compression. A nerve can only transmit to the brain information as to whether or not a ray of light is falling upon it. When a harve is in part in the light and partly in darkness the sensation is the same as though all of it was in the light.

It follows, therefore, according to the Scientific American, that all nerves on the different areas between any black and white areas transmit the sensation of light at all white lines and white areas appear wider and all black lines and black areas appear narrower than they really are.

Black letters are thicker at the limit of vision and are still thicker, while, while at the same distance white letters grow thicker and cannot be distinguished. There are circumstances when it is necessary to use white letters, but in such cases legibility will be impaired if they are made with a thin stroke and strongly lighted. Black letters are more distinct if made with a heavy stroke.

HANDS COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Itched So Kept from Sleeping, Passed the Night Scratching, Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment Stopped the Itching at Once and Entirely Cured.

63rd Ave., Ville Eudore, Montreal, Que.—"My trouble started with small pimples on my hands, which I kept so long that I became despondent. I passed the night scratching it, I did not know what to do with myself. I became so disengaged that I did not have the heart to do my work. My hands were so sore that I could not type. For three weeks I had my hands down to keep them from touching the bed, for I tossed and scratched so that I made a hole in the bedsheet. I had suffered for three years like this when I saw an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I decided to send for some."

"As soon as I received them, I applied the Cuticura Ointment and washed my hands with Cuticura Soap at night before going to bed. This stopped the pimpling at once. I continued to use them, using not quite two boxes of Cuticura Ointment with the Cuticura Soap, and I was entirely cured. My hands are now smooth and soft. He applied it two nights with Cuticura Ointment and has not felt it since. We have great confidence in Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment. I shall send all who suffer with the same disease about them."—Miss Rose Gobert, Dec. 25, 1911.

JOHNNIE'S DECISION.

I LEFT a note beneath dad's plate. Last night in it I tried to state my case. "An' smokin' books an' states an' rules." That was the way I wrote. To him an' put it in the note—"I have decided I am sore. Can't get no sleep at all more. When it begins, I want to go. An' git a job to work at. So I'll go to work at. I wrote then. "Your lovin' little boy." When dad took up his plate an' ate. The note he took it up between his thumb an' finger that was. "I have to go. I don't know what to say. A word, but gives a sort o' frown. An' folded an' laid it down. An' took up his plate again. His pipe an' set them smokin' it. Till bedtime. Then I said good night. An' laid it down. "Good night, son! Sleep tight!"

When I had got nearly half the way upstairs I heard him laugh.

"It's mornin' before I come down. I'll be goin' to work at. I wrote. An' when I turned my pipe up, yes. There was another note for me!

"I have decided you're to go. To school when school begins again. I'll go to work at. I wrote for me. I work for you, so you must be Good and must go to school for me. Dad. So I'll go as he said.

What?

Andrew Carnegie tells a tale about taking a German financier traveling in America on a visit to Niagara falls. The millionaire, accustomed to bursts of enthusiasm, was not little astonished to see his English friend stand and gaze stupidly minute after minute upon that roaring cataract without evincing the faintest emotion.

Finally, unable as he admits, any longer to contain his admiration and disappointment, Mr. Carnegie turned to his companion and asked:

"Don't you think that's a wonderful sight?"

"'Vot?" asked the German.

"Why, that giantic bow of water pouring over the precipice!"

The gentleman from the Fatherland stood a few seconds longer, then looked up blantly and asked:

"Well, vat's to hinder it?"—Los Angeles Herald.

The boy was positive, but to make sure "Ms." he called, "ain't I just nine years old?"

"Yes, son."

After a time he ventured, "Say, master, what made you think I was more than your son?"

"Why," said the stranger, "I could not understand how you could get so dirty in nine years!"—Christian Herald.

Happenings in and Around Burnis

A very successful smoking concert was held under the auspices of the Burnis Conservative Association, last Saturday night. Mr. H. E. Riddell took the chair and after a short address in which he announced the objects of the meeting read out various notes of apology as to the non-attendance of several gentlemen who were, to be present. Dr. Johnson of Lundbeck was the principal speaker and in discussing the political situation of the day he delivered himself as follows:

That as much as the party system of the government is criticised it had been found out by practice that it was the best system. The old coalition form of government as practiced in the old days had proved itself a success and having arrived at the point where we were to be built wherever necessary, splendid ruled by party government it behoved us, the electors of Rocky Mountain Constituency to elect a member who would be a unit in the government. However many good things can be said about Mr. O'Brien, but one thing is certain and that is that the Pass has not got representation in the house to-day.

Mr. O'Brien's boast is that both parties are afraid of him, a rather humourous position for him to take up and instead of working for the benefit of the people he is suppose to represent he manages to queer himself with both sides of the house and nothing is accomplished for his electors. In short the Pass is at present unrepresented in the Government of the Province. How much this means is not appreciated by the average elector. Songs were very ably rendered by Messrs Rowley, Cleague, Tonks Mills, Fisher, Carson, Jepson and Yearby. When completed the store will be one of the best on Victoria Street.
